On behalf of the Historic Preservation Commission, I would like to welcome you to volume 9, Issue 1 of the city of Sanford Historic Preservation Commission Newsletter. We hope that this recurring newsletter will be one tool we can use to update you on all the Commission has been working on. This issue includes Mural Arts Project, Downtown Streetscape, Meeting Dates, and Major COA Submission Deadlines.

Please make sure that if you own property or live in the Rosemount McIver Park Historic District you are in compliance with the Parking Regulations that went into effect on January 1, 2016. Staff has conducted a survey and it appears that numerous properties ARE NOT in compliance. If you need a copy of the Regulations please contact staff at 919-718-4657.

Streetscape Update

At the time of the writing of this newsletter the work left to be completed is the stripping of parking spaces, and roads, paving of the alleys and power washing all facades as deemed necessary. Upon completion of the aforementioned work Inspector Lester Armstead, Senior Planner David Montgomery, and DSI Director Jennifer St. Clair will conduct a final walk through and create a punch list of items to be addressed.

Mural Dedication and Celebration

October 13, 2016 dawned a gorgeous day in Sanford, perfect for a celebration! With five murals complete, one ghost sign restoration, at least three to five more planned for the Downtown Business District and two for Jonesboro we are off to a great start with our Mural/Public Arts Project.

A big shout out needs to go to Bob Huets of the Raleigh Executive JetPort who sponsored the Bandit Pilot Fly over, The Bandit Pilots, the Lee County Honor Color Guard, Coca Cola, Yarboroughs, the young men who performed 'Who's on First', the Heart of Carolina Jazz directed by Gregg Gelb and his singers; Kathy Gelb, Carol Ingbresten and Trish Hamilton, and all volunteers that made this dedication/celebration possible.

The night was filled with great music a stunning rendition of the National Anthem, recognition of everyone whether it be an individual or a company who donated or Sponsored murals. Mayor Mann spoke to the importance of community involvement and engagement Councilwoman Wyhof spoke about how important the arts are to create a vibrant community.

Hot dogs, Coca Cola products, peanuts, cracker jacks, popcorn and Yarboroughs Famous Ice Cream were enjoyed by all.

A personal thank you to all the great volunteers, my co-workers that helped with clean up and to the young couple that volunteered to help.

There are two Request for Proposals (RFP) out for two murals, the SanLee Theater and the Fairview Dairy Farm. A call for two RFP's for Jonesboro will be released mid-December: one for the Jonesboro Coronet Band and the other a vignette depicting the history and development of Jonesboro. The Jonesboro murals target date for completion will be late spring early summer of 2017.

Mayor Mann spoke to the investment that the community has made not only in the Mural Project but also the Downtown Streetscape Improvement program.

The Bandit Pilots performed a spectacular Flyover, which thrilled everyone in attendance!

The Carolina Heart of Jazz, directed by Gregg Gelb performed at the dedication.
