Purpose

To introduce text amendments, plans (such as but not limited to: Comprehensive, Transportation, Small Area) providing for a smoother process for the separate government entities of the county in consideration of adoption of said amendments and plans.

Appointment Authority

With the adoption of the Unified Development Ordinances, a joint planning commission was formed consisting of nine voting members and the managers from each respective jurisdiction. The regular members are the two mayors, chairman of the county commissioners, each of the three chairpersons of the planning boards, and one member from each governing body. Board terms will have no limit. Seats will be filled as necessary.

Authority of Board

The Joint Planning Commission (JPC) is an advisory board appointed by the three governmental entities in Lee County which include Lee County Government, Town of Broadway, and the City of Sanford. It is under the authority of these three entities which give the JPC the right to make recommendations to the County, Broadway, and Sanford.

Meeting Time and Location

The JPC generally meets the second Thursday of the month (4 times each year, except when special meetings are called) in the West End Conference Room at 6 P.M. The day and time are subject to change.
